Charles E. Cox

Cox Interior, Inc., was founded in 1983 by Charles E. Cox. He had a dream that, along with his wife and children, he would be involved in creating a market that implemented the use of poplar, oak and cherry as an alternative to pine used in interior wood products.

His dream became reality in 1983 with the manufacturing of interior mouldings made from poplar, oak and cherry. He then started the manufacturing of the poplar door. Following the success of the door facility, he began manufacturing stair parts and then proceeded to circular and free standing stair systems.

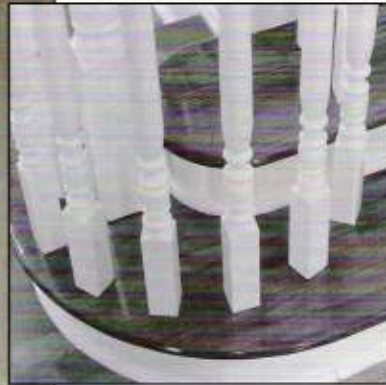

Cox Interior, Inc., is located in Campbellsville, Kentucky on a 70 acre site, with 15 acres under roof of manufacturing facilities. We employ over 840 persons along with a sales force of 65 individuals in an eight state area.
